Chairperson, Student's Council - Report

They say that a good leader is one who leads a group or an organisation, and motivates them to achieve a particular goal. And that is exactly what the Student Council of 2016-17 did.

On the 18th of August, 2016, the Student's Council of Parvatibai Chowgule College, was formally instated. On this day, the 14 members of the Student Council pledged to work hard at making Chowgule College a better place for the student body. And judging from all that we did throughout the year, I'd say we did manage to leave a pretty darn good legacy behind.

The first event we handled as council was Teacher's Day, where we celebrated the beautiful souls we are lucky to call our teachers. This day also marked the debut performance of the newly formed Drama Club. Cultural Day is an annual program that began in 2015, and was carried forward by the Council on the 25th of August, 2016. This event is generally handled by the Cultural Secretary of the Student Council, with the other council members assisting him in whatever way he needed. The aim of cultural day is to find the talented individuals of the college, and provide them with a platform to showcase their skills. The theme for this cultural day was 'India', and its various cultures and traditions.

In keeping with the tradition of having a few days where the students can let their hair down and relax, Fun Week was organised from the 20th to 23rd of December, 2016. Each of the days was themed, which means that students showed up to college dressed as gangsters, and on one day, even came in their pyjamas! Fun week was brought to a close with performances by DJs A.N.D. and Skeletron, giving students a chance to shake a leg and enjoy themselves. The biggest and most important activity for the Student Council was our intercollegiate event, Tathastu – So Be It! The event was themed 'Magic and Illusions' and saw over 2500 students from multiple institutes across Goa, participating in 36 events which spanned over a period of 2 days. This year was the third edition of Tathastu – So Be It! and it saw Goa College of Engineering (GEC) become Overall Champions for the third time in a row, while St. Xavier's College, Mapusa secured the second place.

The Student's Council participated in 3

intercollegiate events, and won 2 of them. Chowgule College emerged first runners up for Anantara, which was organised by Damodar College of Economics and Commerce, and were crowned victors at Vistara, which was organised by the Goa College of Architecture. Each event organised by the Council, or attended by the general student body, was a huge learning experience, with Tathastu being the biggest lesson. I think that it's safe to say that nothing in life comes easy, and being in the council has made me realise that. We faced hurdles and obstacles for so much of what we did, but we always emerged victorious because we worked harder than we ever have, to prove to all the doubters that we were capable of doing everything that they thought we couldn't. Yes, there were days when I would wish that I had not joined the council, but it was worth it. Being able to stand up and fight for the things we believed in, made me realise just how strong I am as a person, and how strong my council was as a team, and for all that, I am immensely grateful.

FOLLOW THE FOOTSTEPS OF HIRA WAGH AWARDEE: MISS TANYA KENI

BY MS. VRUKSHA KARMALI

July 7, 2016: 'Being a Philosophy student for two years, I am very much inspired by the law of karma, and have followed it till now. I love helping others and the same comes back to me. I also believe in sheer hard work,' says Miss Tanya Keni, who is the winner of the Hira Wagh award for the academic year 2015-2016'.

Tanya is excellent in academics as well as in dance.

She has many achievements to her name in both dance and studies. She has completed her B.A. in dance with distinction is currently pursuing Masters in the same. Simultaneously, she graduated with top honours as a Psychology Major. She was selected as one of the thousand dancers all over India to perform for a dance festival at the Rajarajeshwara temple in Tanjavur, commemorating 1000 years since the construction of the temple. In her HSSC examination, she topped the Goa Board in the Arts stream. 'Dance has become my passion. Initially, I was reluctant to join dance classes, but after some days it became my hobby because of my guru who brought lot of interest in me about dance.' Says Tanya. Studies were not her cup of tea. The first time she scored 90% was in her 10th standard, and ever since she set that standard, it became her target. She then aspired to maintain that position and achieve higher goals.

She says that dance and studies are two pillars of her life.

It is easy to set a standard but difficult to maintain it. As the expectations increase, we have to do lots of hard work - but the stress that accompanies this makes life miserable. Therefore, Tanya always managed her time in a balanced manner and stayed focused. Her family members supported her throughout. 'Winning the Hira Wagh has been one of my greatest achievements till now', she says. She was quite fascinated by those among her seniors who had won that award. Now, she aspires to be a researcher and continues her passion in dance. Her humble approach and hard work has made her a Performer par excellence.

MARGAO: The Dogears Bookshop, in collaboration with Club Carpe Diem recently organised South Goa's first poetry Slam on the 1st of July at 4:30pm, making it a fun filled evening for all poetry lovers.

IS THE PRICE RIGHT?

- MS. SIMRAN PRABHU
MALKARNERKAR

Are the coffers empty or full? The only sure thing is that students are caught in the middle. Ms. Simran tries to get to the bottom of the increased prices at the college canteen.

Margao, 8th July 2016 -

The Tigers' Centre is the most crowded place at Parvatibai Chowgule College, but it does not seem like a very happy place anymore. The prices of the food have been hiked up, emptying students' pockets.

When asked why, Nitin, the canteen proprietor says, "the rent has been increased, the electricity and water bills have to be paid separately regardless of the salary of my staff and very few students are coming to the canteen." On the other hand, the management revealed a completely different side to the story - they said that the rent earlier was pretty low previously, and is now still low relative to the profits made by the canteen. Now as a voice of the student community, all that's left to be asked is, why are we sandwiched in this tussle? It is a humble request to restore the prices of everything, so as to not oblige students to spend most of their money in the canteen.

Lack of students due to price rise?

Not everyone can bring a homemade meal - there are students travelling from fairly distant places, who have to leave in the early hours of the morning. "Whom do we go to with this request?" - is the question in every student's mind. *** genres. The session was handled by Stacy and Leonard.

Poets of various age groups entertained the audience with their amazing poems filled with humour and inspiration, speaking of love, nature and human intricacies. The poets - Alicia Araujo, Lester Dsouza, Abhirupa Sarkar, Anand Lobo, Katienne, Toshiro Cotta and Finosha Rodrigues - further spoke about the meaning behind their poems.

Poetry enthusiast Shubhankar Shah felt that the session was encouraging to amateur poets and also found it very interesting to see the thought process of the poets as they dealt with subjects that were generally over-looked.

The session ended with a musical performance by Anand as he delighted the audience with a quirky and hilarious song by Johnathan Coulton, "Skullcrusher Mountain".

THE BARD BY THE MANDОВI- THE SHAKESPEARE FESTIVAL 2016

Eight years ago an initiative was taken by the Department of English Chowgule College to proclaim the greatness of the mighty Bard to all the institutions within the state of Goa. A noble cause to let one and all know what the Bard of Avon was truly capable of. Like anything new there wasn't a whopping response in its very first year but as the years went by and the news spread all over fifteen to eighteen institutions signed up for a day filled with merry-making and learning. A few years ago the mighty writer completed 400 years of his birth anniversary but sadly he left for his heavenly abode at the same time period in 2016. Not one to grieve for long, we took inspiration from none other than William Shakespeare to celebrate with great pomp 400 years of his death.

A chance is what we need to showcase our talents and beliefs. Every year the fresher's are honoured with the opportunity of take the Bard by the Mandovi to another level of fame and gaining of knowledge. This year was no less, the first years put their sweat and blood into setting up a magnificent Globe Theatre for all those Romeo's, Macbeth's, Hamlet's and Shylock's out there to show the world what they truly possessed. A string of events carefully planned not only to garner participation but also help the participants to take back with them everlasting knowledge and a memory for their lifetime.

Events like Steal-a-Scene, Friends, Romans, Countrymen, The Bard, Shakespeare Soliloquy, Bedtime Shakespeare, Mozaic et al were spread across the marvellous college campus giving the students to not only be a part of the event but to soak in the scintillating beauty of the infrastructure. After a day filled with fun and frolic came the much awaited valedictory where we were graced with the presence of our esteemed principal Dr. Nandkumar Sawant. Albeit there were fifteen teams fighting it out but only the first three take the trophies home. Rosary College of Science and Commerce, Navelim won the third place after a gruesome battle. The second place was won by Vidya Vikas Academy, Margao. Don Bosco Higher Secondary, Panjim took home the winner's trophy being the first higher secondary to do so in the past seven years. Here's to one more year with the Bard and looking forward to many more. ***

#ShakespeareFest2016 #FavMoments!!!

The biggest..., the craziest... and the most funfilled inter school event in Goa, Shakespeare Festival 2016 turned 7 this year!! And hell yeah it was a blast! Not only that but it also was the 400th death anniversary of Shakespeare. With 14 teams and an enthusiastic audience the event was a real success (as always ;p). Apparently it keeps getting better and better every year. And recalling some of their favourite moments, here is what some of the students had to say about Shakespeare Fest

The Shakespeare fest this year was just as awesome as every other year and the energy throughout the day was ecstatic. I especially liked the performances in "Friends, Romans, Countrymen" as I was surprised at the marvellous ability that the young actors showcased.

-Shubhankar Shah, TYBA

The Shakespeare festival is one event that does celebrate the true essence of literature and drama. It provides the students with a worthy platform to explore new possibilities for themselves and polish their existing qualities. Every year The Shakespeare fest keeps getting better with every passing year! Everyone that participates once, definitely wants to come back for more! I've been coming here 6 years straight now, and honestly? I still haven't had enough!

-Charmaine Pereira, FYBA

Shakespeare festival this year was one of the best so far! Right from the art installations to the events. I really enjoyed being a part of it. I felt the mini sunburn party in the auditorium was one of the highlights of the day. And I sure had a hell of a time!!!

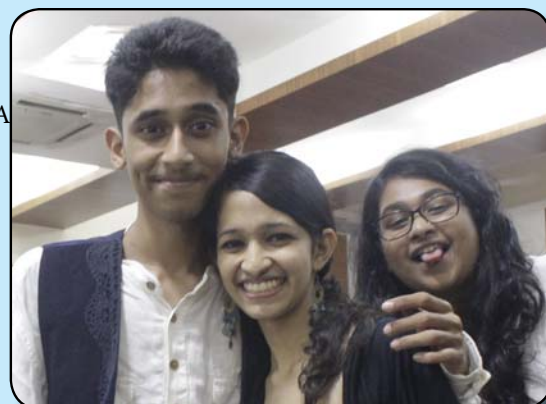

-Chris Ferrao, FYBA

The Shakespeare Festival has always been very close to my heart. I've been a participant, an organizer and this year, a judge. And I must say, every year it just keeps getting better. And this year it was the best! The art and decor was absolutely first class. The inaugural was totally innovative and hilarious. All the events were well taken care of by the ever enthusiastic FYs. All in all, I think it was a pretty awesome festival and I'm proud to belong to a department that knows how to put up a good show.

-Anjali Mascarenhas, TYBA

Shakespeare fest felt different this year for me. Because this year I wasn't organizing the event. It was fun being in the audience and enjoying the competition instead of running around and making sure things were alright everywhere. My favourite moment was at the end, when everyone was dancing and enjoying the music. #bestday

Interactive Session with Pundalik Naik

Mr. Pundalik Naik, Prominent Goan Writer

Margao, 30th July- The Talking Tree series of Parvatibai Chowgule College, organised their first interaction for the academic year 2016-17. Renowned Goan writer, Mr. Pundalik Naik was the key speaker of the session. The teachers and students of the English Department as well as the Konkani Department were active contributors to this session. One of the topics discussed was the effects on translation of Konkani Literature. According to him, the process of translation is like attar, when you move it from one bottle to the other, it is obvious that some of it will fly away. The content can surely be depicted but the flavour is lost. He quoted the Konkani idiom 'Kavlo apudlo' used to depict the menstruation process as an example to show the loss of regional flavour in translation. The writer also spoke about the inspirations and struggles while writing the novel. Although this was a very good initiative, the program witnessed considerably less number of students as participants

Interactions like these are something the students look forward to such interactions not only help in the education process but also in inclining students towards the subject.

P.C.C ENGLISH DEPARTMENT NEWSLETTER – VOL. VIII ISSUE II, JANUARY 15, MMXVI

PEGASUS 2016-WAM BAM POW!

The Department of English recently organized the 9th edition of its annual literary festival 'Pegasus.' This one of a kind, intercollegiate festival was held over 2 days which were filled with a whole lot of fun and excitement. Since Comic Studies is being introduced as an electorate in our syllabus, it seemed only right to have it as the theme for Pegasus this year. We hosted 25 events, which included the Laureate, graffiti, photography, scavenger hunt, roast, debates and much more. This year it was Goa University, Taligao who emerged as our over all winners. While Xavier's College, Mapusa were the runner up and MES College, Vasco took home the third place. But this year wasn't just about Pegasus and its Comic theme. It was also about the first ever All Goa their character in front of an audience. The event was judged by the talented cartoonist, Alexyz, the Margao based fashion designer Verma Dmello and the actor/producer Brijesh kakodkar. Diksha Singh who played Poison Ivy was the winner of the first ever Cosplay Competition. Krishen Cotta played the Cosplay Competition that made its debut, here at our very own Chowgule College! Launched by the English Department itself, the competition had participants in the 2 categories, i.e. the competitive and noncompetitive, in addition to 20 other cosplayers. We saw the talent and creativity of our participants as they each strutted character of Orochimaru from the Naruto Manta and won second place while Spawn played by Aaron Rodrigues won the third place. Not to forget 9 year old Klenzy Cotta who won a special prize as she played Kikyo. Once again, Pegasus was a great success and definitely memorable!

MY TIME AT GOA ARTS AND LITERARY FESTIVAL

The Goa Arts and Literature Festival was a four day event that was held at the International Centre Goa in Dona Paula from the 8th-11th of December 2016. I attended two of essay displayed in one of the corridors was a collaborative piece between Mayank Austen Soofi and Anna Gerotto. It was a beautifully displayed series.

On Day two, Satya Saran

the four days of talks, presentations and performances. While the talks were all very enlightening, the performances and readings were equally interesting.

On the first day we sat for a poetry reading of five poets from all over the country. The poems were beautifully crafted, and the topics ranged from families to Goan scenery. The open conversation on travel blogging between Mayank Austen Soofi, Anuradha Goel and Anna Gerotto was light, funny and insightful. The photo gave a presentation on the evolution of Indian beauty. It was one of my favourites, and rather revealing talks of the day. She explained the Indian idea of beauty right from the beginning and how, over time, theatre and cinema has adapted to it and influenced it. The second session I attended was a presentation on food photography portraying two very different perspectives of Naomi Duguid and Rohit Chawla. Both of them had diverse, but beautiful, shots presented and each had a story to tell. After lunch, a group of performers from Open Sky Slam took the stage in the courtyard to perform. Each performance was unique to the performer and very well done. All in all, the sessions were great, and I cannot wait to attend GALF next year.

Spending time amongst the students and teachers of the university gave us immense knowledge about their culture. Paper presentations from us and students of the university gave new information about different perspectives. A cultural program by Goan students and a cultural program Sri Lankans bridged the gap of cultural knowledge of the student of both the countries. 'Visit to University of Kelaniya gave us more knowledge about Sri Lanka's geographical position and All in all, the national seminar was very important as it gave us a lot of important information as well as the much needed exposure. The inaugural session was graced by Honorable Governor of Goa, Smt. Mridula Sinha and Mr. Colin Wells, Deputy High Commissioner, Mumbai. Renowned speakers from all over India were invited and numerous professors from all over Goa presented papers on the seminar topic. The sessions were very informative. They educated us on the steps they take to protect the victim and their families. We also had an experimental sharing by the LGBT community. They shared their personal experiences which touched all of our hearts. We also had open sessions where we had a question and answer rounds with the experts. Many experts discussed the law that we need to implement in India to protect the victims and their families. ### SWEDEN INTERNATIONAL EXCHANGE PROGRAMME

The students, Eldon Gomes, Prachiti Vaidya, Sakshi Ahluwalia, Sreetam Halder, Jayashree Sanzgiri, Sanika Neurenkar & faculty member Ms. Madhavi. Motankar all from the Department of Biotechnology participated in the International Science Exchange Programme at Bromma and Tulinge gymnasium, Sweden for the year 2016-17. The exchange program took place during 22nd April to 07th May 2017. They carried out studies of Swedish society & nature. The exchange programme consisted of lectures, field studies, study visits with focus on sustainable development, equality & ecology. As a part of the academic research, they carried out several surveys & research projects on the traditional food preservation techniques and home remedy measures using typical Swedish medicinal plants used commonly in Swedish homes. Various other parameters of lake Bröjak, lake Aspen of Södermanland and Fjarlang were part of their study. Water bodies close to the mining areas were investigated at various points for parameters such as pH, temperature, turbidity, nitrates, phosphates, etc. Other studies such as those on Phytoplankton, microbes, probable threats to ecosystems & food chain were also concluded. A visit to the Greenhouse labs and Stockholm University was a part of their study for the program. The students took a lot of trouble to present the 'India Day Celebration' at Bromma gymnasium, Nyängsvägen, Sweden that was eagerly awaited of and most appreciated by all who witnessed the beautiful performances. Another highlight of International Exchanges is family stay. Students stay with the family of host students to experience the culture, social and day to day lifestyle of the family. It provides an enriching learning environment for students of both countries i.e. India and Sweden. Having enjoyed the programme, the students return to their home country with new found strength, confidence, and self-understanding. These experiences can help the young minds gain these qualities so early on in life — that is truly the magic of International Exchange programmes.

Here are some responses to the interaction with the American teachers who visited our college on 21 July, 2016. They visited our college under the Teachers for Global Classrooms initiative. They came, they spoke and they left a mark! Students were free to put forward their point of view in any way they liked.

Anna Siqueira and Deborah McCrea, representatives of Teachers for Global Classrooms program visited Parvatibai Chowgule College on 21 July, 2016. The objective of their visit was to analyze the teaching methods and student activities across the college. In contrast to the students in United States of America, the teaching in India is based on the theoretical knowledge not allowing the students to sharpen their practical skills. In the U.S, the students are assigned with a topic which they have to come prepared with and present before the class while in India the textbook is the beginning and the end of any form of knowledge. The visitors loved the fact that every student in India was multilingual which enabled the students to be rich in culture. This facet isn't seen in America as most students are monolingual. The experiences shared by them brought a smile on our face. A wonderful session which helped both the parties imbibe knowledge from one another.

Dear "social value extremists"

After having an interaction with Ana Siqueira and Deborah McCrea from the US based Teachers for Global Classroom program, I realized that the age old system of girls and boys sitting separately in the classrooms, is another custom perhaps unique to India. This separation in the seating system of schools is perhaps why freshers in college feel shy or uncomfortable while interactions with one another or working on projects together. This mind set is further thrust upon us by those disapproving glares from school teachers and I truly believe that this mind set needs to change. - Shruti Yadav

In an interaction held with Ana Siqueira and Deborah McCrea, representing the 'Teachers for Global Program', held at Parvatibai Chowgule College on 21st July, several topics related to education system around USA and India were discussed. The aim of the said program is to understand the education systems around the world.

In one of the questions focussing on the comparison of the education systems, Ana Siqueira mentioned the friendly relationship between in teacher and a student and how this relationship helps the student to interact in class and overcome the fear of wrong answers. The friendly atmosphere provides an assurance to the child that a given question may have many possible answers. Education systems in India, being traditional, mostly focus on one particular right answer thus creating a gap between students and teachers. One of the major lessons learnt from such an interaction would be, the relationship a teacher forms with a student and the ability to accept all the answers without discouraging any student.

EERIE COLLEGE MYSTERIES UNSOLVED

Margao, 15 July: Chowgule College, one of the most reputed colleges in Goa, is sprinkled with rumors of being haunted. In 1998 before the re-planning of the college, the current Chowgule gym was a multi-purpose arena, which was attended to by a man named Philip. A trusted source reported that Philip had committed suicide on one of the trees that was cut down to build the gym. Night walks down the slope from the gym can sometimes be very eerie due to the lack of lighting and the abandoned H-Block building with reports from the watchmen having different experiences at the particular area. According to Sanjay the gym manager, "The night guards start their shifts from 6am to 6 pm and many a times, they have come to me telling me about their experiences, often with fear in their eyes. So far, there has not been a single sighting of a ghost or what sort but I can't say no to the fact that they might have heard something uncanny and mysterious." Through the years there have been different night guards with similar experiences, like how suddenly there is loud music being played in the gym or how heavy weights are being lifted and dropped to the ground or how the biometric reader at the gym suddenly responds with the claim that the finger print isn't authorized. The gym officials claim to close the gym at 10 p.m., shutting down all the gym and electrical equipment including the biometrics, yet the night guards still stand witness to these mysterious events, while some say the ghost of Philip lurks around, while others optimistic say that these are just rumors to create fear. At the end of it, I personally think it depends on ones belief and how we respond to it. Like the biometric reader says, if you don't believe this report then, "Please try again." ***

ROUND TABLE CONFERENCE NEEDED

Indians are excelling all over the world. The world which we live in has advanced to a great extent and so has the pace of everything. The level of education has changed. So there is a need to change the way it is tested. Having an interaction with the three teachers from the 'Teachers Of Global Classroom' (TGC), I realized that the education system in the United States is very open to how the students learn and understand. There is a lot of flexibility in the examination system unlike here in India. Let us talk about Goa itself, here all the schools and colleges have to follow the traditional form of education which does not let all the students as well as teachers open up, learn and understand better. Therefore I would appreciate flexibility in terms of examination and assessment, so that the teachers provide skill based education rather than theoretical. I am also not saying that theoretical information does not allow the students to grow, but it draws a line where the students actually would want to start.

Margao, 21 July: The faculty of Parvathibai Chowgule College was honored to host the members of the Teachers of Global Classrooms Program, Mrs. Deborah McCrea from California who teaches English Language Development and Spanish at Redwood High School Larkspur, Mrs. Ana Siqueira from Florida who teaches foreign languages especially Spanish at St. Paul's School Clearwater and Mr. Francis Anthony from Goa who teaches English at Jawahar Navodaya Vidyalaya. The main aim of these TGCP members was to learn and enrich themselves on the different cultures and values and teaching systems around the world and how they can implement it on their students. In the very interesting interview with all of them, I found the topic of Peer Mentoring mentioned by Mrs. McCrea very interesting and inspiring. It is a learning process where a student with better knowledge of the particular subject mentors his peer via helping him understand the subject and teaching him how to improve his study methods. I personally feel every college should inculcate this notion as teaching and understanding becomes easier and simple and your communicative skills improve while your fear of not asking questions diminishes.

- Priyanka Afonso

As a part of the TGC programme, we got a chance to have an hour-long interaction with two American language teachers, who were here to get an understanding of our educational system and to give and take ideas for a better teaching learning environment, and a better world. Most of what they spoke reflected a drive to use their skill to help make the world a better place - using education to develop knowledge, tolerance and respect between communities and cultures. Considering the current state we are in, one of fear and violence, of religious fanaticism, of intolerance and discrimination, of misdirected hatred and stereotyping - the work they are doing and the vision they have is extremely relevant. They are of a view that language, being the most generally pervasive of things that can be learnt and acquired, has the power to change minds - for it can broaden perspectives and open young hearts up to a whole different way of life. A new language brings with it the soul of its people, and teaches the learners of ideologies entirely different from their own, making them more open to accepting the validity of differing opinions and beliefs. Earlier this morning, I asked the programme coordinator what the most important thing she had learnt from all the places she had been visiting was - and I loved her response - she told me, "I think the most important thing is that people, everywhere, are more similar than they are different. Everyone visits a new place and talks about how many things they do differently, but there are always so many things that they will connect over - humans are humans."

- Aarati Joshi

Hi Ana,

It was a really great interacting with you and Debbie. I found it very interesting to know how the education system differs in the US as compared to the Indian education system where the focus is more on simply studying and nothing really skilled based. Here in India, students are taught skill based activities only when they reach college, unlike there where they learn to interact and learn at a very young age.

I believe it is very important that a child is taught to explore their creativity and learn about different cultures by interacting with people around them at a young age rather than just studying from books. It is usually those skill based activities that help a child grow and adapt to various surroundings, build their confidence and overcome their fears. It help them be a little more mature and independent.

I do hope that the education system in our country also adopts this idea.

Thanks a lot for sharing with us your experience.

- Loretta

In the interaction with the two teachers, Ana Siqueira and Deborah McCrea from America we got information about Teacher's for the Global classroom (TGC), which helps train teachers with 21st century skills of teaching students, making study topics and teaching interesting and globally relevant.

The most interesting thing which I liked was the difference in the way of educating students in America and India. They shared their teaching experience which was very inspiring to me. From our childhood, our teachers always teach us by just giving us lectures on the concerned topic and we use to memorise the information. But they give them more practical work than theoretical. They make the study topics interesting to the students by interacting with them, by organising debates in the classrooms related to that topic, by making students write summary about the debate, by taking them to the study tours and picnics. This improves the knowledge and interest of the students in the concerned topics.

I believe that this is the best way of educating students and it should be globalized. -Vruksha Karmali

BOOK LAUNCH: TRACK II - SAMIDHA

ELECTION SELECTION

29th July came washing across the shores of the corridors, breeze blowing ferociously in the canteen and then came the much awaited storm; Elections. A vital part of college life where everyone fastens their seatbelts for a ride of their lifetime. This year we saw campaigning occur in its glory where candidates brought out their savviest pictures, made calls to all and above all promises to their fellow students. The Student Council for 2016-2017 was born with the nourishment provided by the student body of Chowgule College. A diverse and enthusiastic team of fourteen eagerly waits to fulfil their promises and let the ray of sunlight shine throughout. The Council will be inaugurated on the 10th of August in the Upper Auditorium. The Council wishes to see all the faces who backed them up and helped kick-start their journey.

P.S: Meet your Student Council in the next special issue of Aether.

EERIE MYSTERIES: A TRAGEDY, BUT NO GHOSTS HERE

Margao, 04 August: The mystery of the ghost Philip, published on the 22nd of July on Aether, has been getting interesting reviews, and one such review is by Dr. Devashish Bagchi, our very own Director of sports department, Chowgule College. According to him, Philip was a very sober and quiet person who always kept to himself. He worked for Dr. Bagchi for 12 long years before his suicidal mystery. Dr. Bagchi has played an important role in the reconstruction of the college campus, especially in the construction of the Chowgule gym. He was told many a times by the peons of the campus, telling him that the area of the multipurpose room, present day - the gym, was haunted by a women with a baby in her arms, who cried bitterly as they walked on the grounds of the campus. He also claims he has experienced no such phenomenon taking place, while he spent most of his early years working late nights in the college campus.

According to Dr. Bagchi, the night Philip died, many people saw him more drunk

*What lurks after hours here?
Nothing much according to Dr. Bagchi, Sports Director*

than usual, riding his cycle on the streets of Arlem at 11 to 12 o'clock and came back to the college campus at around 1 a.m. presumably. Philip hung himself on one of the trees with a nylon rope, around the timeline of 1.00 am to 2.00 am because when the security guards went for their final morning round at 4.00 am they saw Philip hanging, lifeless. Dr. Bagchi refuses to accept the existence of the mysterious events in the Chowgule gym. He put forth his theory, “These are all beliefs, coming from villages we tend to believe in these things which are not possible”. He also says that, “We assume that sometime our phone is ringing but in reality it doesn’t. Same way the watchmen, they probably assumed that dumbbells are being lifted and thrown after listening to numerous stories from previous watch men and as for the biometrics thumb print scanner sometimes there is a possibility that the power isn’t completely shut down, therefore it by default turns on.” He further suggests checking the cctv footages in and around the gym for any mysterious phenomena that are reported by the watchmen. ***

SHOBHAA, BAS BHI KAR DE

Margao, 10 August: Columnist and author, Shobhaa De has been drawing a lot of flak on social media for her insulting tweet on the Indian Olympians at Rio de Janeiro. According to her, all the athletes are doing is clicking selfies, and wasting opportunity and money. “Goal of Team India at the Olympics: Rio jao. Selfies lo. Khaali haat wapasa aao. What a waste of money and opportunity,” De tweeted on the 8th of August 2016. While India’s best 121 athletes fight for a chance to win medals at the Rio Olympics of 2016, Mrs. Shobhaa De shows her patriotism towards her country being an armchair athlete and worrying about the country’s coffers which have only been feeding the rich. Former captain of the Indian hockey team Viren Rasquinha tweeted, “Ms. De, kindly run on the hockey pitch for 60 mins & hold a rifle like Abhinav and Gagan. Bit tougher than u think.” <sic> While Mr. Abhinav Bhindra, India’s ace shooter who stood 4th in the shootout of the Rio Olympics 2016, with a margin of 0.5, tweeted, “that’s a tad unfair. You should be proud of your athletes perusing human excellence against the whole world.” India’s performance at the Rio Olympics 2016 has no doubt been disheartening so far but at least our athletes have given their best shot. It’s not easy being a sportsman in India; we lack the proper facilities, infrastructures and trainers. Every state has a Sachin Tendulkar or a Mary Kom or a Dipa Karmakar or a Milkha Singh but all they lack is the opportunity and proper guidance, which our Sports Authority of India fails to provide. Our country has a population of 1.252 billion people and we fail to recognize talent and encourage them and Mrs. De seems to be one of those people who all talk and no show. I do believe India has a long way to go with reference to sports but at least it has started its quest to reach the summit. We as citizens of this country should be proud of our athletes rather than shaming them, for only they know how hard they tried to bring pride to the country. ***

Chowgule College GETS IT'S OWN APP! ARE YOU APP - TO - DATE?

Looks like all of us have taken the the definition of a cell - i.e. Fundamental unit of life - too seriously, but confused it with the cell-phone. Here we have Chowgule college with its very own app, making a student’s life much easier. I was so excited when I received the link to download the app but to my bad luck, I use an apple device and the app can only be downloaded on android phones. Very curious to know more about this app, I asked my friends if they had downloaded it, and it was really funny to hear them say that it’s harmful for their devices, so they were afraid to download it. Still curious, I used my old android phone and downloaded the college app to find out what it was all about. The app opened to the page where I could log in and keep a track of everyday activities, my attendance, targets, time table and all important notices - but to my disappointment the app wouldn’t load and an error kept occurring. despite the problems, I feel it’s a really good initiative and definitely needs to be worked on.

Editor’s Note: On trying to install the college app, I was immediately drawn to the fact that the app required permission to not only access your SD card but also permissions to modify it and delete information from it! One wonders what the app is going to be doing. App makers, Please rectify that problem asap if you want students to use the app.

The first year students of the English department recently organised a bake sale on the 12th of this month. The purpose of the sale was to raise funds for the upcoming The Bard By The Mandovi -Shakespeare Festival, one of the biggest inter-school event in Goa organised by the English Department of Parvatibai Chowgule College.

The sale offered a variety of muffins ranging from chocolate-chip muffins to banana muffins, and delicious candied apples with a chocolate sauce to die for! Not to forget were the corned beef sandwiches that failed to disappoint. But what topped the list was the mouth-watering chocolate cake that sold out within minutes. Besides the baked goodies, the juniors also put up a game stall for everyone to add a little fun and excitement!

It may be their first attempt at organizing a bake sale but that didn't stop the FYs from making a really good profit and having fun. Watching people's positive reaction to their sale was what they enjoyed the most said Sinead from the first year. ## To Park Or Not To Park

The amount of bikes and cars in our college parking lot is increasing day by day. Just days before we had a body building championship and the parking lot was filled to the brim, so the security guard had to close the gates but that only made it worse as cars and bikes were being parked by the side of the road.

A large number of students (possibly 50%) come to college with their vehicles. There are days that if you are lucky enough you get an open spot right near the parking lot entrance or a few spaces back but the day you're late or it's just not your day the only open spot would be the extreme corner where there are huge piles of leaves. To make your day even worse you now have to walk all the across the lot and up the slope or like the most of us do – walk all the way from the computer science department to the canteen and up to class. Recently to avoid the hassle of parking far students have started parking bikes behind another bike or anywhere in between they have a big enough spot for the bike to fit. Guys, please it's your college and you need to use it intelligently. But the bottom line is that parking remains an issue in college

CARTE POSTALE

Letters Unposted

Dear 'Best friend',

I heard you are dating that guy. I also saw you leave with him today. I called out to you, but I assume you were too busy thinking about your 'date'. As promised, I won't believe these rumours. After all, that's what we promised each other right? I hope your feelings for him haven't made you forget these promises. As I walked our usual path home today, I saw those five stones, those five stones which reflected our childhood. And there I stood lost in my world tracing the path to the realm of happiness and laughter. I did see both of us sitting there and yapping, so did I hear the giggles and laughter. A little further, I saw those tears and sobs. And then, I saw little you, pretty in two ponytails and a pink frock running towards me with wild berries. And suddenly, you fell down. A toddler version of myself ran towards you and rolled the red mud over you, for your grandmother told me to do so. And then with pain and tears in your eyes I saw both of us walking towards those five stones. Unaware of platelets and much of science, two tender hearts admired the clotting blood, until the setting sun decided to draw us apart. I could see the pain of separation in your eyes as the sky painted itself ochre and we led home. Lost in this scene I found myself wondering how lifeless the stones have become, for they miss that laughter and those giggles, for no one sits on them crying and admiring blood clots anymore. And so did I realise how far we have drifted from each other. I do miss our friendship, I do miss who we were, I do miss the old you. Does the forever in 'best friends forever' last only till either one gets a boyfriend?

India became independent from British colonization on 15th August 1947. This day is celebrated with great fervor across the country, while the capital, Delhi, becomes the hub of all celebrations. This year, India celebrated its 70th Independence Day.

This day is given a lot of importance in our country, but do we truly know the weight that this day carries?. The history of India's independence is laced with the struggles and sacrifices of many revolutionaries that the country bred. The alien company's sudden take over filled the country with resentment and its unfair rule over the local populace began to grow widely, creating mayhem. The Sepoy Mutiny and Jallianwala Bagh Massacre sprouted bloodshed in the nation. February 1947 brought a new light in the lives of the

AB TOH BADEGA INDIA!

Indians, with a promise of self-governance by June 1948. Nonviolent resistance and civil disobedience led by leaders like Gandhi, Patel and Nehru was largely responsible for India's independence.

However, independence came with the partition of India into the dominions of India and Pakistan.

On 15 August 1947, Jawaharlal Nehru, India's first prime minister, raised the Indian national flag. This tradition has been continued till date with our current Prime Minister Narendra Modi doing the same at the Red Fort, Delhi.

Parvatibai Chowgule College celebrates this day with great enthusiasm, promoting the growth of youth through walkathons and a grand flag hoisting at the college premises. The NCC Cadets play a special role to make this day memorable. As the future of this rich and diverse nation, we should take it upon ourselves to not let the struggle of our ancestors go to waste and to be a vital element of the growth and development of our country. Jai Hind!

TERENCE LEWIS: SENSATIONAL!

On the 24th of August, the day before Founders' Day, Team Aether made their way to Alila Diwa Goa for an exclusive interview with Terence Lewis, this year's Guest of Honour. As we waited in nervous anticipation, Terence strolled in wearing a brown tee with a smattering of small holes all over, clean shaven, the sides of his head bare. He's got quite a jarring sense of style, which he carries off with great poise. Having charmed us all, he spent the next hour talking to us over masala chai. Intelligent, free, and very open-minded, he made the interview a fruitful and engaging one.

The 42 year old dancer-choreographer has been immensely successful, and he has worked his way to the top. Along with an intrinsic talent for dance, he has unparalleled technique and an undying love for the stage. He also reads a lot, and is passionate about learning new things. He's in the process of refining his skills in a couple of languages, and is also learning to play the guitar, no less. He's got a practical, realistic outlook - something that he manages to maintain alongside all the romance and floridity of art, and the funkiness of the typical artist.

He narrated, at length, crucial parts of his life that made him the person he is today - right from his family environment, his learning experiences, and educational forays, to his time in the limelight. He sure gave us a lot to think about, and regaled us with stories laced with knowledge about how the world works - passing on life lessons that he'd learnt the hard way during his journey. In the next issue, dear readers, Team Aether will give you the entire scoop - wait for it!

Is 75% Attendance Necessary

According to the policies of Parvaribai Chowgule College a student must have a minimum of 75% attendance to be eligible to answer their semester end exams. Most of the students think that the 75% attendance should not be made compulsory because they feel it hinders their opportunities to take part in extracurricular activities, inter - college events and sports events. Also, all - rounder students who feel like they can catch up with the syllabus they missed feel constricted by this policy as it holds them back from taking part in non - academical events.

On the other hand, the down side of completely doing away with this policy would be that a lot of students would misuse this new - found freedom and suffer in their academics. Being college students it's not as though we are entirely oblivious to the importance of our classes but at the same time a little discipline is required. Therefore, a lot of students feel that instead of 75% attendance, if only 50% of attendance would be made compulsory, they would be free to take part in non - academical events without constantly having to worry if their attendance is up to the mark.

‘विदांची त्रिपदी’ संपन्न

विदांची त्रिपदी हा विदा करंदीकरांच्या कवितांवर आधारित कार्यक्रमाचे आयोजन विभागाच्यावतीने दिनांक ४ जुलै रोजी करण्यात आले. विदा करंदीकरांचे सुपुत्र आनंद करंदीकर व सरिता आबाड यांनी ज्ञानपीठ पुरस्कार विजेते साहित्यिक व ज्येष्ठ कवी विदा करंदीकरांच्या कवितेचा प्रवास उलगडून दाखवला.

विदाचे तत्त्वज्ञान तरुण पिढीला कळावे व विदांनी जो अनुभवला तो आनंद

विद्यार्थ्यांपर्यंत पोहोचवावा या उद्देशाने विदांची त्रिपदी हा कार्यक्रम आयोजित करीत असल्याचे आनंद करंदीकर यांनी सांगितले. आपल्या वडिलांच्या साहित्य संपत्तीचा आनंद जास्तीत जास्त लोकांपर्यंत पोहोचवावा या उद्देशानेच या कार्यक्रमाची आखणी करण्यात आल्याचे करंदीकर यांनी सांगितले.

विदांच्या कवितेमुळे नवा दृष्टिकोन आपल्याला मिळाला. तो दृष्टिकोन महाविद्यालयीन विद्यार्थ्यांपर्यंत पोहोचविणे हे आपले कर्तव्य असून या कार्यक्रमात विदा करंदीकरांचा एक कवी म्हणून परिचय करून दिला जात आहे. विदा करंदीकरांच्या कवीतेतील रसरशीत जीवनशक्ती, क्रांतीकारक विचारांची शैली व सांस्कृतिक नाळ या तीन आयामांवर विदांची त्रिपदी रचली असल्याचे आबाड यांनी सांगितले.

सामाजिक जाणिवेतून त्यांची कविता फुलली. व विदांनी संस्कृतीची नाळ न तोडता, संस्कृतीचे गुलाम न बनता सांस्कृतिक भावनांना आपल्याला हव्या त्याप्रमाणे नवा आयाम दिला. गझल व तालचित्रांसारख्या काव्यप्रकारातही विदांनी नवनवीन प्रयोग केले असल्याचे आबाड व करंदीकर यांनी सांगितले.
