1. Water Management on Campus

Groundwater is pumped into storage tanks situated at various points across the campus, including overhead storage tanks. A well-constructed pipe network distributes the water throughout the campus. The management committee closely supervises the entire distribution system to prevent leakages and wastage from joints, valves, and other connections. Low-pressure flush systems help minimize unnecessary water usage. All college stakeholders are encouraged and informed on how to use water responsibly and efficiently.

2. Drinking water facility

College has well established drinking water facility for students and faculty and other fraternity of the college at three different locations.
