The objectives and description of the activity	In celebration of the International Year of Millets (IYOM) 2023, the Biochrome Club of the department of Biotechnology organized an interdepartmental competition. The event aimed to raise awareness about millets and their significance in promoting sustainable agriculture. The competition featured two categories: Digital Story Making and Short Poem on Millets. However, all participants opted for the latter and two additional participants submitted their poems online. After a closely contested competition, Vardha Vivekanand Gaonkar Desai emerged as the winner. The Biochrome Club's initiative helped raise awareness about millets and their potential to contribute to a more sustainable future.
